

Law and driven forward by the imperialists.

Soon afterwards the carnage began. Since the night of November 8, when the first attack was made by the revolutionists, the Tatar general has endeavored to terrorize the inhabitants by wholesale executions.

Those whose quarters had been out off were beheaded by the dozen, but to-day when the order for a general slaughter had been given the whole native city was invaded by the Manchus, who ruthlessly massacred men, women and children. The aged, the young and babes in arms were shown no mercy.

Thousands of Chinese poured from the gates until at noon to-day it was estimated that fully 70,000 persons had escaped. Before daylight, 20,000 more, representing every class, the merchants, the gentry and coolies had gotten away. Meanwhile, the Manchus scoured the narrow streets of the city, and the houses of wealthy merchants were sacked. Any clueless victim was beheaded immediately.

The correspondent of the Associated Press saw several women executed and their children stabbed and trampled under foot.

White the Badge of Death.
The order appeared to be that any one wearing anything white, which suggested the white badge worn by the reformers, should be killed forthwith. A white pocket handkerchief marked the possessor for death. White shoes, which are worn by the Chinese as a sign of mourning, were a signal for the execution of the wearer.

The horror of the massacre cannot be described. An attempt to-night to estimate the number of innocent people and non-combatants slain would be futile.

The Chinese found wearing foreign clothing immediately fell a victim of his advanced taste, but foreigners were not molested. Their protests against the massacre, however, were disregarded, and even laughed at. The correspondent of the Associated Press worked throughout the day within the outer walls of the city eight miles from the telegraph station with which they communicated and which they were permitted access through the courtesy of the railway officials. Fires sprang up everywhere, and a large section of the native city was burned.

To-night the Manchus, driven to bay, cornered and glutted with blood, having despoiled the goods of 200,000 inhabitants, watches the flaming city from the height of Purple Hill and awaits to-morrow.

Still Quiet in Peking.

Peking, November 10.—Again to-day all was quiet within the capital, and at Tien Tsin, and there was no sign of the revolutionary upheaval that has been expected for several days.

In Peking those who surround the throne are actively engaged in efforts to end the rebellion, and to-night there seems some foundation for the government's hope that it will be able to regain the allegiance of General Chang Shao Tsen. Chang is commander of the division at Lanchow, but at present is detached from it "on sick leave." He controls the situation in North China, and the government has been using every endeavor to gain his unqualified support. It desires Chang to return to Peking and confer with Yuan Shi Kai and Hsi Liang Shi Liang, the ex-viceroy of Manchuria. That Chang possibly may do so is indicated in advance received to-day from Lanchow. A correspondent interested in Chang's command of the Twentieth Division during Chang's "illness." Both generals, it is said, agreed that they would protect the Emperor, if he is still reigning. If he has abdicated that they would side with the peace party and the Constitution.

Regardless of race, they stated, if the Manchus should massacre the Chinese, or vice-versa, they would fight against the offending parties.

An official announcement, to-night says the court, meaning the Dowager Empress and Emperor, will move from the Winter Palace to the Inner city November 20, and orders all officials on duty to attire themselves in winter robes. An imperial edict again patently begs the Manchus and Chinese to sink their differences and live in brotherly affection.

The Chinese newspapers say General Li Huen-Heng, leader of the revolutionists, has made a counter-proposition to Yuan Shi Kai to join the rebels and assume temporarily the presidency of the republic pending the assembling of a Parliament.

MEETING WILL NOT BE HELD THIS YEAR

Times-Dispatch Correspondents Postpone Annual Session Until 1912.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Weldon, N. C., November 10.—Times-Dispatch Correspondents will take notice that the dates for the meeting of The Times-Dispatch Correspondents Association at Murphy's Hotel on the 15th and 16th have been canceled, and that the meeting postponed till some date in 1912, to be determined later by its executive committee. It has been found that owing to important business engagements some of the officers and many of the active members found that it would be impossible to attend this fall.

President D. E. Stalnaker, of the association, says that after consulting with the management of the paper and members of the executive committee it was decided that the meeting be postponed till 1912. An attempt will be made next year to get practically all of the correspondents to attend the meeting. The excellent program prepared will be revised and used at the next meeting, and all officers of the association will hold over till the next meeting.

The president, aided by the secretary and treasurer, Miss Seabell, and members of the executive committee, will make a strong effort to have the 1912 meeting one of the very best ever held. Some of the leading members have written favoring this plan, and pledging themselves to do all in their power to aid in making the next meeting the very best ever held.

FLAW IN COTTON CASE ADMITTED BY LEHMANN

Pointed Out by Chief Justice During Course of Supreme Court Argument.

Washington, November 10.—During the closing arguments to-day before the Supreme Court, the position of the government on the validity of certain counts in the "cotton corner indictment" against Frank B. Hayne and William B. Seales, Morris, partner of the Madison Square Club, was pointed out by Chief Justice White. The government was charged with a conspiracy of weakness in one of the indictment counts.

Former Senator John C. Spooner was attacking the count, which charged a conspiracy severally to buy cotton, but which the court held to be bad because it charged nothing in regard to holding or selling the cotton.

Solicitor-General Lehmann, interrupted to explain that the position of the government was that a conspiracy among men that they would severally buy to give them power of control over a market was within the Sherman antitrust law.

"But, Mr. Solicitor-General," began Chief Justice White, "there cannot be power unless there was an agreement not to sell."

"That, of course, is the weak place in the count," admitted the solicitor-general. "I realize that."

"I thought that was the reason you didn't say anything about this count yesterday in your argument," said Mr. Spooner, laughing.

George D. Merriell, of Chicago, representing James A. Patton, then addressed the court, and following him the argument was closed by Solicitor-General Lehmann.

MAN IN SHARK'S STOMACH

Huge Fish Killed After an Hour of Hunting.

Pensacola, Fla., November 10.—After an hour's hunt, in which the fish was perforated with rifle bullets, a dozen men, on the 10th, killed yesterday a giant shark which Wednesday devoured a fisherman.

Members of the crews of several ships, who were hunting the shark, found the dead animal when he fell overboard and crunched it between his great jaws. Since then there has been a general shark hunt in progress. The captured monster was over twelve feet in length.

When the fish was cut open almost the entire body of the shark was found inside, including the head, trunk, parts of the legs and pieces of clothing. The shark was almost intact but bore the imprint of the scute rows of teeth.

MONEY AND JEWELS STOLEN

Home of Wealthy Collector of Antiques Looted by Burglars.

Bartford, Conn., November 10.—The home of Dr. L. B. Smith, a wealthy collector of antiques, was entered by burglars before daylight to-day and $10,000 in money and jewelry taken. Entrance was made by forcing a dining room window. Several thousands of dollars' worth of silverware in the dining room was passed by, but the second room was ransacked.

Most of Dr. Smith's valuable collection of antique jewelry was taken.

TALK OF TARIFF REDUCES IMPORTS

During Past Fiscal Year Customs Receipts Showed Falling Off of $19,000,000.

Washington, D. C., November 10.—The discussion of tariff schedules in the near future probably will be responsible for the $19,000,000 decrease in customs receipts for the fiscal year 1910, according to the annual report of Lee McClung, Treasurer of the United States, made public to-day. On account of increases from other sources, Mr. McClung points out, however, the total receipts reached the new record of nearly $701,375,000.

Calling attention to the fact that the fiscal year closed with about $77,000,000 as a working balance in the vaults of the Treasury—approximately the same amount which is there to-day—Mr. McClung says:

"As there is no emergency calling for an increase of government deposits in banks, the Treasury may, by keeping the cash in vaults in time of monetary ease, prevent the use of the funds for the promotion of speculative expansion. If, however, financial conditions should become strained, the Secretary of the Treasury is in position to give prompt and effective relief to the business situation."

To meet the demand for small denominations of currency, the Treasurer recommends that $5 gold certificates be issued, removing the restrictions which confine the issue to $10 and above, and also that the provision of the law limiting the number of $5 bank notes be repealed or modified. Mr. McClung believes that the Secretary should authorize the issuance of $5,000 gold certificates payable to order, as there is a demand for that denomination in preference to the $10,000 certificate now prescribed by law.

The 6 per cent. fund deposited in the Treasury by the national banks to permit the prompt redemption of their circulating notes is inadequate, says Mr. McClung.

"Almost throughout the entire fiscal year," he adds, "the Treasury has had to advance money for the redemption of bank notes on the security of the notes themselves. The notes are not obligations of the Treasury, but banks should be required to deposit a greater amount to provide for current redemptions."

NEW ROLLING STOCK ORDERED BY RAILROAD

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Bristol, Va., November 10.—The Virginia and Southwestern Railway Company, whose lines pass through the Southwest Virginia coal fields, has just made an order for new rolling stock to the value of $46,000. The letters have been turned over to the postal authorities, who are at this time investigating.

Senator Faulkner, who lives at Boydville, an old Colonial estate in the suburbs of Martinsburg, recently had occurred to have his house blown up to cease throwing money at the Black Hand.

POLITICS CLOUDS PEACE OF LABOR

Its Injection Threatens Harmony of American Federation Meeting.

Atlanta, Ga., November 10.—Politics threatened the peace of the labels department of the American Federation of Labor at to-day's session, when charges were made that John H. Lennon, of Massachusetts, president of the department, and treasurer of the American Federation, had taken an unduly active part in the recent prohibition campaign in that State. Mr. Lennon surrendered the chair temporarily and immediately denied the report. No action was taken.

A resolution was adopted providing for a committee to confer with President Charles S. Barrett, of the National Farmers' Third Year Meeting, on a plan of co-operation between the farmers' union and trades crafts.

These officers were elected: President, James R. Tobin, Boston; First Vice-President, John W. Hayes, Indianapolis; Second Vice-President, Jacob Miesher, Indianapolis; Third Vice-President, Owen Miller, St. Louis; Fourth Vice-President, T. A. Richert, Chicago; Secretary-Treasurer, Thomas F. Tracy, Boston.

At the opening session to-day of the metal trades department a fight was started on the Taylor system of efficiency in shop system. President James O'Connell, of the department, in his annual address, urged that a resolution be drawn condemning the Taylor system and submitted to the executive council of the American Federation for ratification.

Secretary-Treasurer A. J. Burres, in his report, urged that the scope of the Federal eight-hour law in the construction of ships be broadened to have all parts of all ships built by those working under federation rules.

WHAT DOES PROPER FUNERAL COST?

Attorney Believes Railroad Man Can Be Buried for $100.

Washington, D. C., November 10.—The proper funeral expenses of the average railroad employe formed the subject of a brief colloquy to-day between Frank V. Whiting, claims attorney for the New York Central Railroad, and D. L. Cease, special representative of the railroad employes on the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission.

Mr. Whiting was engaged in the presentation to the commission of some of the details which he thought should enter into the proposed legislation for the insurance of railroad men against accident, and in case of death indemnity mentioned $100 as a proper allowance for the cost of a funeral. Mr. Cease took immediate issue with him, saying that he did not believe that a man could be decently buried for less than $125 or $150. In reply Mr. Whiting cited the fact that the Italian authorities had fixed $50 as the limit of funeral expenses of Italian subjects killed on American roads.

"But," responded Mr. Cease, "I was not speaking of Italians. I was speaking of American citizens."

Mr. Whiting gave the present total expenditures of the railroads of the United States as compensation to railroad employes as almost $12,000,000, or about 1 per cent. of the aggregate pay roll of the roads. He placed the number of railroad employes at 1,454,033, of which number, he said, 3,602 had been killed and 126,419 injured during the past fiscal year.

Charles A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, said that 6,000,000 men were employed in the various manufacturing industries of the United States, and urged that they be included in the proposed law. Declaring that it developed efficiency, uniformity and certainty, he contended that society generally would be benefited by the adoption of a Federal compensation scheme that would apply to all industries in any way involved with interstate commerce.

Chairman Sutherland stated that at the next meeting of the commission, November 27, a draft of the bill agreed upon by the commission would be presented for consideration.

The following preamble and resolution were adopted at a meeting of the Richmond Academy of Medicine and Surgery, held November 8, 1911:

Resolved, That in the death of DR. JOHN A. HILLSMAN, the Richmond Academy of Medicine and Surgery is again called upon to mourn the loss of one of its ablest members. Full of years and abounding in the good works of a life spent in the services of suffering humanity, he has fallen leaving a clear conscience, in charity with the world and of good repute among his professional brethren. An unassuming and courteous gentleman, he performed his duty as his duty as he saw it, and stood square with the world under all circumstances. His high courage was evidenced by a remark made by a friend when discussing war experiences: "I am ashamed to have come out of the war alive; there were so many opportunities for me to die for my country." Therefore, be it

Resolved, That this society place in its records the minutes of the meeting in which Dr. Hillsman was held by his professional brethren.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family; that they be spread upon the minutes of the academy, and be published in the daily papers and medical journals of this city.
